

temperature. In event of damage, deterioration or loss, the lender (and, where appropriate, the carrier) will be notified immediately.

Loaned objects or mounts will not be altered, cleaned or repaired without express permission of the lender in writing.

Insurance: To the extent that the artwork(s) is covered by insurance provided by SGAM the undersigned agrees that the insurance coverage available will only be for the "fair market value" of the artwork(s). Frames and pedestals will not be insured for damage. The undersigned acknowledges that, if the artwork(s) submitted for exhibition to SGAM fits within the category of works deemed "high risk," the artwork(s) will not be insured.

Packing and transport: The method and costs of transport and packing must be agreed upon by SGAM and lender. SGAM will exercise utmost care in unpacking and repacking art objects. Art objects will remain in possession of SGAM for the period specified by this agreement and may not be transferred to another party unless lender is notified and agreement made between SGAM and lender.

Reproduction and credit: Each object shall be labeled and credited to the lender using information provided on this form by the lender. Unless SGAM is notified in writing to the contrary, it is understood that SGAM shall have the right to photograph the loan objects for purposes of record-keeping, publicity and education connected with its exhibition. The general public may photograph the objects for personal and not for commercial purposes while on exhibit at the Museum. SGAM will request permission for any images used in formal Museum publications.

Returns: The loaned art objects will only be returned to the Lender as recorded on this agreement, unless notified in writing to the contrary. If the legal ownership of the object changes during the period of this loan, for any reason including death, sale, insolvency or gift, the new owner shall, prior to its return, be required to establish his legal right to receive the object by proof satisfactory to the Museum.

If, through no fault of its own, the art object is not returned after 30 days after termination of the loan period as specified by the parties, the Museum shall have the right to remove insurance and its liability. If the object is not reclaimed after five years, then in consideration for its storage and safeguarding during such period, the artworks shall be deemed an unrestricted gift to the Museum.
